In FASHION Now

This is the time of the year that all women really dig for fashion facts. Read up on all reports that have any bearing on the garments you are thinking of buying. Evaluate them and then carefully jot down what is on hand in your closet that can be worn again this year.

Make sure you understand what materials are in the fabrics of all the garments you buy. Some combinations have wonderful wearing qualities and are easy to keep. Others, costing just as much, are easily rumpled and do not clean well.

Don't buy a new cut of dress or suit unless it is becoming. The woman who goes to any extreme to be stylish and wears all the new designs just because they are new, is usually a comical-looking figure.

The older you are, the more careful you must be about the color and detail of your clothes.

There is a somewhat standard rule that a woman over forty should never wear black. This is just so much rubbish. It is true that the mature coloring is usually flattered more by a color, however, there are some gray-haired women who find that black is their best color.

Blouses are always an important item in the winter fashion picture. If you are planning on buying some blouses, you should be acquainted with the popular fabrics like cotton broadcloth, pima broadcloth, pure linen, linen-like rayon, dacron-and-pima cotton blends.

To have proper fit, your blouse's shoulders must be wide enough to let the sleeves fall easily but not so wide the shoulder seems to droop. Armholes should be comfortable, and not cause ripples under the arms.

No gaping is a sign of good fit and be sure to check your shirt tail. Bend over—if the tail stays in it it is a good fit. Collars should be carefully matched, precision tailored to fit smoothly when worn open or buttoned up. Seams should be closely, firmly, stitched. Buttonholes should be tightly stitched, neatly finished.

This year marks the return of the velvet afternoon dress. It will be popular in the classic shirtwaist style, simple but dramatic sheaths with exciting new necklines, and wonderful, straight, baton - lined long-sleeved dresses with big white lace collars.

body is strongest, it is during this period also that bodily energy is usually spent most freely. Adolescent boys and girls and young men and women who do not eat sufficient nourishing food, who work and play too long and too hard, and rest too little, are apt to have bodies which cannot deal successfully with the germs of tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is a common disease. Half a million Americans suffer from it, and it takes a death toll of 60,000 annually in the United States. It is an expensive disease, yet this common and costly disease could be wiped out.

Tuberculosis germs usually lodge in the lung, although the disease may occur in other parts of the body. Infection usually takes place as a result of contact with a person who has the disease in a communicable form, that is, who is giving out from his body living tubercle bacilli. Anyone coming in contact with such a person is likely to breathe in or swallow some of these germs which a patient coughs out in large quantities. Dust containing the germs of a careless spitter may be directly inhaled. Drinking cups, spoons, or food handled by a person having tuberculosis are dangerous sources of infection. In most cases, no indications of illness occur when the germs of tuberculosis first enter the body. Many people are able to cope successfully with small doses and never develop active disease. You see, a body in good health usually builds a wall or tubercle around the invading germs and imprisons them, and no disease results. Keeping the body in good health is good insurance against tuberculosis.

It is now well known that the disease when it begins usually fails to announce itself by obvious signs and symptoms. Tuberculosis seldom strikes a sharp blow in the beginning. You know, it has been likened to a smart thief, creeping up from behind.

As the disease advances, some of these danger signs may appear: fatigue, loss of weight, and a cough that is persistent. These warnings are common to other ailments. However, medical advice should be sought when the three named symptoms appear, and the lungs eliminated as the cause.

There are two sides to the prevention of tuberculosis. By public health measures the spread of the disease from person to person must be prevented. The other side is the prevention of the outbreak of serious disease in a person who already has been infected. We now have means to discover the presence of tuberculosis infection long before any physical signs make their appearance, and that means is the X-ray.

It cannot be said too often that tuberculosis at the beginning is without signs or symptoms. You know, the X-ray is your best aid in discovering early tuberculosis. The X-ray readily shows if any tuberculosis is present in the lungs before the individual has any signs or symptoms of the disease. The earlier the disease is detected, the better for the patient, his family, and the general public.

The Appomattox County Health Department is vitally interested in the control and elimination of tuberculosis in this community, and has arranged, in cooperation with the Appomattox County Tuberculosis Association, a series of X-ray clinics for this purpose. Announcement of the time of these clinics and the places where they will be held will be made later. All children over 15 years of age, as well as all adults, white and colored, are requested and urged to attend these clinics and have an X-ray taken.

Since about 2% of all people in surveys show sings of active, healed, or open tuberculosis of the lungs, and since all new cases are contracted from pre-existing old tuberculosis cases, the early diagnosis, treatment and educational work in tuberculosis makes it advisable for all to have chest X-ray examinations, and especially those between the ages of 14 and 45 years. Your cooperation and help to eradicate the disease is earnestly solicited. "The battle against tuberculosis is not a doctor's affair; it belongs to the entire public."

Many of our farm owners, especially home owners, are interested in doing something to steep banks or slopes that are present in or near the home site. This, of course, can be done in a number of ways and would depend on the time available and the owner's preference. There are a number of ways and things we can do and the following should make some useful ideas for your home.

Retaining Wall.— can be constructed of stone, cement brick, cinder block, or other suitable materials. Be sure, however, a good foundation is provided to prevent frost damage.

James Resigns As Mayor, Due To Health

RESIGNS AS MAYOR

. . . . Chas. F. James

In an action which caught the community by surprise, Appomattox's popular Mayor today submitted his resignation.

Mayor James, currently on vacation in Alabama, stated that he has been advised by his physician to give up the office, for reasons of health. He has been under a heavy work load and the duties as Mayor have taxed his health, and the advise was to curtail activity.

Mayor James has been one of the community's ablest public servants. He served for a number of terms on the town council, and then a term as mayor, succeeding C. S. McDearmon. Later he returned to membership on the council, and was named as mayor to succeed G. B. Buchanan. He won re-election, without opposition, in the town election last June, and began his current two-year term September 1.

A man of outstanding character and integrity, his leadership meant much to the community. Many vexing problems came up during his service as Mayor, but he met them in such manner as to merit and receive the respect and commendation of the community. This was shown repeatedly by his top candidate in town elections.

Mayor James letter of resignation was addressed to Mrs. Calvin Robinson, President of the Town Council. He requested that the resignation be effective as of date it was written, Oct. 10. The letter was received this morning.

ASC Explains Grain Quotas As Seeding Time Draws Near

As the time of seeding the 1956 wheat crop draws near, W. D. Hix, III, chairman of the Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds farmers of certain restrictions under the wheat marketing quota program with respect to plantings.

One source of misunderstanding among wheat farmers is what constitutes a "wheat mixture" under the quota program, Mr. Hix said. He explained that a wheat mixture means "a mixture of wheat and other small grains (excluding vetch, Austrian winter peas, rough peas, and flax) containing, when seeded less than 50 per cent by weight of wheat and which when harvested produced less than 50 per cent of wheat by weight. An acreage will not be considered as having been devoted to a wheat mixture if the crops other than wheat fail to reach maturity and the wheat is permitted to reach maturity."

Under this definition of a wheat mixture, the wheat and other grain must be seeded at the same time. For example, barley or oats may not be seeded in a field in which wheat has already been sown for purposes of qualifying as a wheat mixture. "It further means that the acreage will be classified as wheat if the oats, barley or any other grain than wheat fails to mature and the wheat is allowed to mature. The responsibility of a wheat mixture turning out to be less than 50 per cent of wheat by weight when harvested is entirely upon the farmer," Mr. Hix declared.

Farmers with wheat acreage in excess of the farm allotment will be given an opportunity to utilize the excess as a green manure crop, for hay or silage, provided such utilization is accomplished before June 1, 1956.

In 1956, as in the past two years, farmers will be permitted to produce as much as 15 acres of wheat and not be subject to marketing quota penalties. However, any wheat produced in excess of the farm allotment and 15 acres will be subject to a penalty based on the amount of wheat in excess of the farm allotment. The penalty rate will be computed at 45 per cent of the parity price of wheat on May 1, 1956. The 1955 crop penalty rate was $1.13 per bushel.

ASC Chairman Hix urges all farmers who have any question whatever with respect to the 1956 wheat seedings to call at the ASC county office and have such misunderstandings cleared up before seeding the wheat crop.

To Hold Mass X-Ray Clinics October 25-31

The Appomattox County Health Department in cooperation with the Appomattox County Tuberculosis Association, will conduct Mass X-Ray Clinics in Appomattox County from October 25 through October 31, 1955.

It cannot be said too often that tuberculosis at the beginning is without signs or symptoms, Dr. H. E. Jenkins, Health Director, said. The X-ray is the best aid in discovering early tuberculosis. X-ray readily shows if any tuberculosis is persent in the lungs before the individual has any signs or symptoms of the disease. The earlier the disease is detected, the better for the patient, his family and the general public.

The Appomattox County Health Department is vitally interested in the control and elimination of tuberculosis in this community, and has arranged a series of X-Ray Clinics for this purpose.

All children over 15 years of age, as well as all adults, white and colored, are requested and urged to attend these clinics and have an x-ray taken. There will be no charge for these x-rays, and all will be notified of the results.

Further, an x-ray of the chest should be taken periodically. Since about 2 per cent of all people in surveys will show signs of active, healed, or open tuberculosis of the lungs, and since all new cases are contracted from pre-existing old tuberculosis cases, the early diagnosis, treatment, and educational work in tuberculosis makes it advisable for all to have chest x-ray examinations, and especially those between the ages of 15 and 45 years.

Your cooperation and help to eradicate this disease is earnestly solicited, Dr. Jenkins said. The battle against tuberculosis is not a doctor's affair; it belongs to the entire public.

There will not be another Mass Chest X-Ray in Appomattox County for two years.
